Smartphones do too much for us!

Dear Sir,

Using smartphones is making us stupid. The smarter our phones become, the less smart we become. We used to remember phone numbers, use maps and add up our shopping bill.

Not any more. Our smartphones do all this for us. Relying on our phones in this way means we are no longer using our brains to work things out or memorise information.

I believe the constant use of smartphones must be affecting how we think.

Is it not about time we became less dependent on our smartphones?
