1. Write a letter

You live near a busy road.

Local people are worried about cars speeding on the road and pedestrians crossing safely. A local safety group has asked residents to write to the council to give their views.

Write a letter to the council to give your views on road safety.

The council's address is: Highways Authority, Council House, 3 Main Street, Beeton, Beetonshire, BE25 1RB.

Your letter could include:

- information about the road you are writing about
- an explanation of why the road is dangerous
- the safety measures you think the council could put in place.

Your letter should be at least 150 words.

You can use a real or imagined road.

2. Write an email

Your friend, Riz, is looking for a new job.

Your organisation is holding a job fair next Friday. They are inviting people to come and find out about the different jobs they have available such as cleaning crew, IT, administration, warehouse workers and drivers. Each job will have a stall where the public can talk to employees about what the jobs are like.

Write an email to Riz to tell them about the job fair.

Riz's email address is: riz@greenmail.co.uk

Your email could include:

- details about the job fair
- what job or jobs you think Riz will be interested in
- why you think Riz will enjoy working at your organisation.

Your email should be at least 150 words.

You can use a real or imagined organisation.
