Subject: Urgent: Cancelled Return Flight & Revised Return to Work

Dear Michael,

I am writing to inform you that my return flight home today has been unexpectedly cancelled due to severe weather conditions at the airport. Please accept my sincere apologies for the inconvenience this will cause to the team tomorrow.

The airline has rebooked me onto the earliest available flight tomorrow morning, which is scheduled to land at 11:30 am. As a result, I expect to be back home by early afternoon and ready to return to work in full on Wednesday morning at 8:30 am.

To make up for missing tomorrow's shift, I would like to suggest two practical options. Firstly, I can work an extra two hours each evening for the rest of the week so that all of my weekly tasks remain on schedule. Alternatively, I am very happy to cover a full Saturday morning shift if that would be more helpful for the department. I can also check urgent emails remotely from the airport this afternoon.

Thank you very much for your understanding and support.

Yours sincerely,

Alex Morgan
