MFS Benchmark Model Response:

WHY VOLUNTEERING IS TRANSFORMING OUR TOWN

By Priya Nair | Local Community Correspondent

How giving just two hours a week is tackling loneliness and building stronger neighbourhoods.

Every Saturday morning, dozens of residents gather at Town Park with litter pickers, flasks of tea, and infectious enthusiasm. What began two years ago as a small neighbourhood clean-up has grown into a thriving network of local volunteers supporting food banks, youth clubs, and elderly befriending schemes.

Benefits for Both Helper and Community

While charities rely heavily on unpaid helpers to keep vital services running, volunteers consistently report that they gain just as much as they give. According to local coordinator David Miller, regular volunteering reduces social isolation, builds practical workplace skills, and boosts mental wellbeing.

How You Can Get Involved

Whether you can spare an hour to read with primary pupils or help maintain community gardens, there is a role suited to every schedule and ability. Simply visit the Volunteer Hub on High Street or register online at www.townvolunteers.org.uk to make a lasting difference this autumn.
