Pearson Edexcel Level 1 Reading • Specification Overview

Pearson Edexcel Level 1 Reading Assessment Format

Examination Structure: The Pearson Edexcel Functional Skills English Level 1 Reading paper is an externally assessed, 60-minute examination worth 30 marks.

Candidates must read and comprehend two to three non-fiction texts drawn from real-world contexts (such as workplace safety notices, community leaflets, operational emails, news articles, and web pages).

- Question Types: Multiple-choice questions, straightforward retrieval, explaining vocabulary in context, identifying organizational features, and distinguishing fact from opinion.
- Timing Strategy: Aim for approximately 2 minutes per mark. Spend 10–12 minutes reading the source texts carefully before tackling the questions.
- No Dictionaries: Dictionaries and spellcheckers are not permitted during the examination.

Golden Reading Rule

Always re-read the specific paragraph referenced in the question before selecting your answer.

Examiner Warning

Never rely on personal background knowledge — every answer must be evidenced directly from the text.

AUDIT

BASELINE SKILLS AUDIT

Level 1 Candidate Diagnostic Matrix

Core Functional Skills Level 1 Reading Competencies

Evaluate your confidence across the core Level 1 Reading standards before starting:

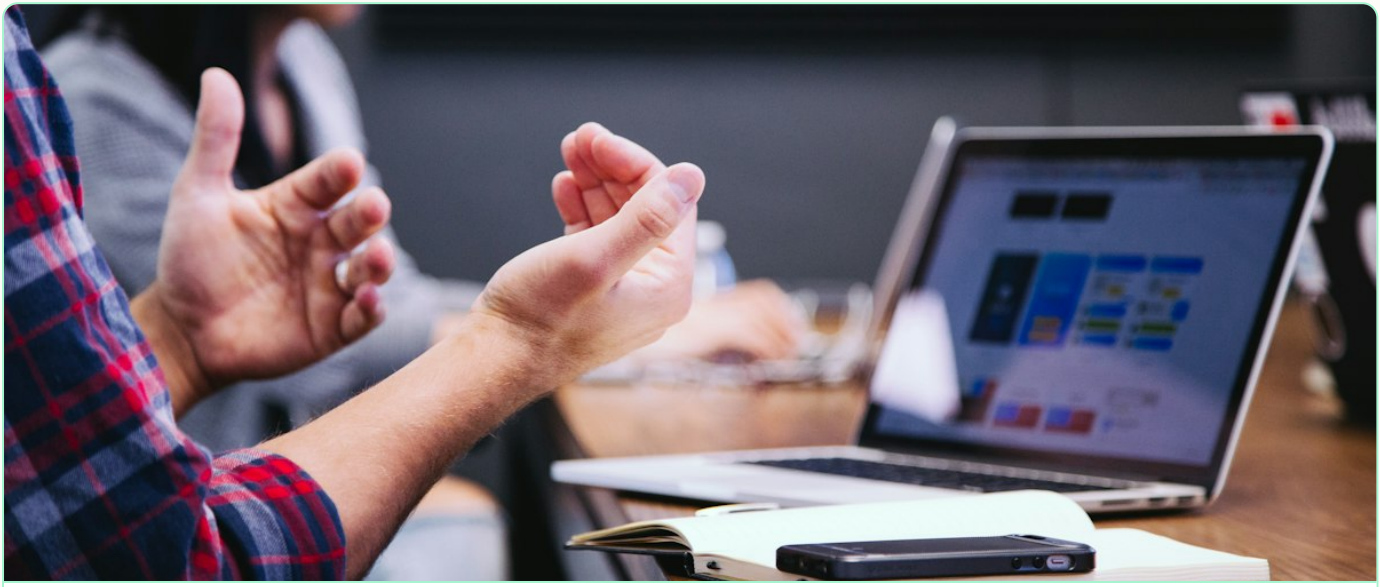

- Can you quickly separate objective facts from personal opinions in a workplace article?
- Can you work out the meaning of unfamiliar words by reading the surrounding sentences?
- Can you identify why a writer has used bullet points, subheadings, or bold text?
- Can you find specific information in an email, memo, or website in under 60 seconds?
- Can you explain the main purpose of a text (to inform, instruct, explain, or persuade)?

TOPIC BLUEPRINT • LEVEL 1 READING

R1

Reading Topic 1: Fact or Opinion

Study context for Fact or Opinion.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

• L1.9 / L2.9: Identify and distinguish between fact and opinion in workplace and informative texts.

• L2.14: Recognise bias and determine whether statements represent verifiable truth or subjective interpretation.

Key Concept: A fact is verifiable using data, records, dates, measurements, or official statistics. If a statement can be checked against records and proven true or false, it is a fact — even if you personally disagree with it.

Golden Rule

Opinions reflect feelings, beliefs, interpretations, or recommendations. Look out for evaluative adjectives ('superb', 'appalling', 'vital') and modal verbs ('should', 'must', 'ought to').

Examiner Trap

Just because a senior doctor or consultant says 'This is the best ward management app available', that does not make it a fact. It remains an informed professional opinion.

'Ward 4 admitted 142 patients in October. The nursing staff provided exceptional, heartwarming care throughout the winter surge. Patient discharge waiting times exceeded 3 hours.'
(a) Identify one fact.
(b) Identify one opinion.
(c) Explain why the opinion cannot be verified as an objective fact.

Tutor Step-by-Step Analysis Strategy

1. Step 1 (Identify the verifiable factual statement): Option A: 'Ward 4 admitted 142 patients in October' OR Option B: 'Patient discharge waiting times exceeded 3 hours.' Both can be verified from hospital admission logs. [1 Mark (A1 Fact)]
2. Step 2 (Identify the subjective opinion): 'The nursing staff provided exceptional, heartwarming care throughout the winter surge.' [1 Mark (A1 Opinion)]
3. Step 3 (Explain why the opinion is unverifiable): 'Exceptional' and 'heartwarming' are evaluative value judgments based on subjective personal feelings rather than clinical numerical metrics. [1 Mark (A1 Justification)]

R2

Reading Topic 2: Words in Context & Meaning

Study context for Words in Context & Meaning.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

• L1.10 / L2.10: Identify meanings of words and phrases and determine how meaning is conveyed.

• L2.11: Understand and explain implicit and explicit meanings across extended texts.

Key Concept: Never define a word in isolation. Look at the sentences before and after the target word to see how it operates within the passage's vocational situation.

Golden Rule

Literal words express their exact dictionary definition. Figurative words create comparisons that must be translated into plain English.

Examiner Trap

A word like 'critical' can mean 'finding fault' or 'of crucial clinical importance'. Always select the definition that fits the vocational scenario.

Tutor Step-by-Step Analysis Strategy

1. Step 1 (Define 'vigilant' using the clinical supervision context): 'Vigilant' means being alert, watchful, observant, or carefully attentive to changes. [1 Mark (A1 Meaning)]

Reading Topic 3: Specialist & Technical Vocabulary

Study context for Specialist & Technical Vocabulary.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

• L1.11 / L2.11: Understand and explain specialist and technical vocabulary in vocational texts.

• L2.12: Recognise jargon and understand when glossaries, brackets, or context define technical terms.

Key Concept: Authors of informational texts frequently define technical acronyms or jargon immediately upon first mention using parentheses (e.g. PPE – Personal Protective Equipment) or a glossary box.

Golden Rule

Many specialist words combine standard roots, prefixes, and suffixes (e.g., 'bio-degradable', 'hyper-tension'). Use familiar word roots to deduce meaning.

Examiner Trap

Exam questions often test whether you know that 'RIDDOR', 'COSHH', or 'MAR' refer to specific official regulations or medical records.

1. Step 1 (Define ergonomic guidelines): Practices or posture rules designed to fit the human body safely and minimize physical strain during lifting. [1 Mark (A1 Definition)]

Study context for Presentational Features.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

• L1.12 / L2.12: Recognise and explain how presentational features aid understanding and convey information.

• L2.13: Analyse how formatting, organizational signposts, and visual features support authorial intent.

Key Concept: You never receive marks simply for naming a feature (e.g. 'bullet points'). You must explain WHAT that feature achieves for the reader in that specific text.

Golden Rule

A main heading states the overarching topic or hooks interest; subheadings break down complex multi-step processes into scannable chunks.

Examiner Trap

Alliteration, rhetorical questions, and metaphors are language techniques. Bold fonts, tables, bullet points, and headers are presentational features.

Reading Topic 5: Layout Devices & Visual Signposting

Study context for Layout Devices & Visual Signposting.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

• L1.12 / L2.12: Understand how layout and structural devices organize complex information.

• L2.13: Analyse the relationship between textual hierarchy, columns, margins, and reader navigation.

Key Concept: Layout is structured so the most important message occupies top-left prominence (banner headline), followed by secondary details in columns, and administrative notes in footers.

Golden Rule

Ample line-spacing, margins, and cell padding isolate critical data blocks, making reading accessible for adults with dyslexia and cognitive processing differences.

Examiner Trap

If asked about layout, do not summarize the words! Discuss columns, spacing, callout boxes, and alignment.

(a) Why did the designer place clinic opening times in a dedicated sidebar?
(b) How does this layout benefit a working parent needing a booster jab?

Tutor Step-by-Step Analysis Strategy

1. Step 1 (Explain the architectural purpose of the sidebar): The sidebar physically separates practical logistics (times, venues) from the dense clinical information in the main body. [1 Mark (A1 Purpose)]
2. Step 2 (Explain the direct benefit to the target audience): A busy parent can immediately locate operational times without having to scan through paragraphs explaining vaccine science. [2 Marks (A1 Benefit)]

Study context for Images, Graphics & Captions.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

• L1.13 / L2.13: Analyse how images and graphical representations support or extend written content.

• L2.14: Evaluate the rhetorical and persuasive impact of visual imagery in campaigning and informational texts.

Key Concept: Images are never decorative in exam papers. They serve an explicit rhetorical function: evoking empathy, illustrating safety hazards, or demonstrating clinical anatomy.

Golden Rule

The caption provides the intended interpretation of the image. Always read the caption to verify dates, identities, statistical context, or clinical significance.

Examiner Trap

Saying 'The picture shows a nurse' scores 0. You must explain why the nurse was chosen: to represent frontline dedication, professionalism, or clinical expertise.

Tutor Step-by-Step Analysis Strategy

1. Step 1 (Identify the emotional response evoked): Evokes hope, relief, warmth, gratitude, and empathy. [1 Mark (A1 Emotion)]
2. Step 2 (Link image content directly to the headline message): The smiling, healthy patient provides tangible visual proof of the life-saving impact of donor funding, demonstrating that immediate paramedic intervention leads directly to positive recovery. [2 Marks (A1 Rhetorical Link)]

Photo

Study context for Language Devices & Rhetorical Techniques.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

• L1.14 / L2.14: Identify language techniques and explain how they influence the reader.

• L2.15: Analyse rhetorical devices used to persuade, inform, critique, or advocate in workplace communications.

Key Concept: To score full marks on language questions in Pearson Edexcel, follow the 3-step formula: 1. Technique Name -> 2. Direct Quote -> 3. Impact on reader thoughts/feelings.

Golden Rule

The 'Rule of Three' creates rhythm, finality, and psychological memorability. Emotive words trigger emotional resonance rather than neutral logic.

Examiner Trap

Writing 'it catches the reader's eye and makes them read on' is the #1 reason candidates fail language questions.

Reading Topic 8: Point of View, Bias & Argumentation

Photo

Study context for Point of View, Bias & Argumentation.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

- L2.14: Recognise bias and determine whether arguments are balanced or one-sided.
- L2.16: Trace lines of argument and evaluate whether conclusions are supported by rigorous evidence.

Key Concept: A balanced, objective text presents both advantages and disadvantages, citing opposing perspectives before responding with evidence. A biased text omits counter-evidence entirely.

Golden Rule

Bias frequently stems from vested financial, political, or institutional interests. If a software provider praises their own app, recognize inherent commercial bias.

Examiner Trap

Just because an author writes with deep emotion and compelling adjectives, that does not mean their argument is factually proven.

(b) Give two pieces of evidence showing this text is biased.

Tutor Step-by-Step Analysis Strategy

1. Step 1 (State the author's point of view clearly): The author believes digital app consultations are superior to traditional GP clinics and represent the total future of healthcare. [1 Mark (A1 Viewpoint)]
2. Step 2 (Identify evidence of bias): Evidence 1: Loaded, dismissive language describing GP practices as 'relics of the past'.

Reading Topic 9: Tone, Style & Writer's Voice

Study context for Tone, Style & Writer's Voice.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

- L1.15 / L2.15: Identify the tone and style of texts and explain how register communicates attitude.
- L2.16: Evaluate how authorial voice establishes credibility, empathy, or professional detachment.

Key Concept: Tone is not just what is said, but HOW it is expressed: humorous, clinical, encouraging, outraged, cautionary, or authoritative.

Golden Rule

Formal register uses passive voice, polysyllabic vocabulary, and objective detachment. Informal register uses colloquialisms, contractions, and direct address.

Examiner Trap

A text about a tragic topic might be written in a detached, factual, clinical tone rather than an emotional one.

Key Concept: Articles persuade or entertain; Reports inform and evaluate; Manuals instruct; Letters initiate transactional requests.

Golden Rule

Salutations & sign-offs indicate letters; Subject lines and CC fields indicate emails; Headings, subheadings & columns indicate articles or reports.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

- L2.17: Compare and contrast information, ideas, and perspectives across two extended texts on the same subject.
- L2.18: Synthesize evidence from multiple sources and identify points of agreement and disagreement.

Key Concept: Never write about Text A in one isolated paragraph and Text B in another. Weave them together using comparative discourse markers: 'Similarly', 'Whereas', 'In sharp contrast', 'On the other hand'.

Golden Rule

High-scoring comparative answers contrast not only factual content, but the author's underlying attitudes, emotional tone, and persuasive techniques.

Compare how the two texts convey differing perspectives on replacing diesel ambulances with electric vehicles.

Tutor Step-by-Step Analysis Strategy

1. Step 1 (Contrast authorial stance and optimism): Text A takes an optimistic stance, claiming electric ambulances will 'slash urban emissions by 40% and save millions in fuel', whereas Text B presents a skeptical perspective focusing on operational risks. [1 Mark (A1 Stance Contrast)]
2. Step 2 (Contrast perspectives on vehicle reliability and charging): Text A emphasizes technological advancement ('rapid charging in 20 minutes'), while Text B emphasizes frontline reality ('charging stations are nonexistent in rural areas, leaving crews vulnerable during emergency surges'). [2 Marks (A1 Synthesis with Quotes)]
3. Step 3 (Integrate comparative connective and conclusion): While both texts agree emissions must fall, Text A prioritizes environmental targets, whereas Text B prioritizes patient response times and emergency safety. [1 Mark (A1 Comparative Synthesis)]

TOPIC BLUEPRINT • LEVEL 1 READING

Reading Topic 12: Authorial Intent & Target Audience

Photo

Study context for Authorial Intent & Target Audience.

DfE Criteria & Core Concept

Curriculum Standard:

• L1.17 / L2.17: Identify authorial purpose and determine why texts were produced.

• L2.18: Analyse how purpose dictates lexical choice, structural hierarchy, and reader call-to-actions.

Key Concept: Professional authors choose every statistic, quote, and formatting device to drive their core motivation: securing donations, changing health habits, winning a contract, or ensuring compliance.

Golden Rule

Authors speaking to teenagers adopt relatable vernacular; authors speaking to clinical directors use formal medical precision and compliance standards.

Examiner Trap

A text may contain facts and statistics, but if it ends with 'Donate Now' or 'Sign the Petition', its primary purpose is persuasive advocacy.

Authorial Intent & Target Audience • Text Analysis

Source Text • Transfusion Service Public Campaign

Extract • NHS Blood Donation Appeal Motivation Analysis:

An NHS campaign text features an emotive story of a child surviving leukaemia thanks to platelet donors, ending with: 'Give blood today. 60 minutes of your time is someone's lifetime.'
(a) Why did the writer include the child's recovery story?
(b) What is the main purpose of the closing call to action?

Tutor Step-by-Step Analysis Strategy

1. Step 1 (Analyse the emotional motivation for the story): The author included the child's story to forge an emotional bond with the reader, humanizing the abstract concept of blood shortages and proving that donations save young lives. [2 Marks (A1 Motivation)]
2. Step 2 (Analyse the closing call to action): The closing statement serves to compel immediate, tangible donor registrations by contrasting the minimal personal sacrifice (60 minutes) with the immense life-saving outcome. [1 Mark (A1 Call to Action)]

Before entering your Pearson Edexcel Level 1 Reading examination, commit to these 5 essentials:

- 1. Read Questions First: Always read the questions before the source texts so you read with focus.
- 2. Strict Pacing: Spend 10 minutes reading texts, 40 minutes on questions, and 10 minutes checking.
- 3. Quote Directly: For retrieval questions, quote exact words or statistics from the source passage.
- 4. Explain Layout: When asked about layout features, always state how they help the reader.
- 5. Answer Every Question: Never leave a multiple-choice question blank — eliminate wrong answers.
