Independent Practice Methodology

This Companion Workbook contains 22 brand-new, unseen examination tasks (two complete tasks for each of the 11 functional writing formats), followed by four complete mock papers and eight diagnostic proofreading exercises.

How to Practise Under Exam Conditions:

- Time yourself strictly: 35 minutes for 21-mark extended tasks; 25 minutes for 15-mark structured tasks.
- Spend 5 minutes analysing the stimulus material and drafting your paragraph outline in the planning box.
- Write your final response directly on the lined candidate pages, aiming to meet the advised word count.
- After completing each task, consult the benchmark model solutions and indicative content in the reference section on p80.

Lexical Integration

Integrate all 4 specialist vocabulary prompts provided in each task brief.

Word Count Guideline

Never write below the minimum recommended word count, as this limits your development marks.

COMPREHENSIVE FUNCTIONAL WRITING GLOSSARY

Active voice
A sentence structure where the subject performs the action (e.g. 'The supervisor audited the records'). Compare with passive voice.

Audience
The intended readership of a text (e.g. senior manager, local council, general public). Dictates register, tone, and vocabulary.

Byline
A line in an article or newsletter naming the writer (e.g. 'By Alex Morgan, Community Liaison Officer').

Cohesion
The grammatical and lexical linking within a text that holds it together and makes ideas flow logically.

Colloquialism
Informal, conversational language or slang (e.g. 'kids', 'gross', 'a lot of hassle'). Avoid in formal writing.

Colon
A punctuation mark (:) used to introduce an explanation, expansion, or list of items.

Comma splice
A serious grammatical error where two independent clauses are joined with only a comma instead of a conjunction, semicolon, or full stop.

Complex sentence
A sentence containing one independent main clause and one or more dependent subordinate clauses.

Compound sentence
A sentence formed by joining two independent clauses with a coordinating conjunction (FANBOYS: for, and, nor, but, or, yet, so).

Conjunctive adverb
An adverb that connects two clauses (e.g. 'furthermore', 'consequently', 'therefore', 'nevertheless'). Preceded by a semicolon.

Contraction
A shortened word form using an apostrophe of omission (e.g. 'don't', 'it's'). Generally avoided in formal reports and letters.

Discourse markers
Words or phrases that signpost the structure and direction of writing (e.g. 'In contrast', 'Furthermore', 'To summarise').

Formal register
A style of language characterized by standard English, complex sentences, objective tone, and absence of slang.

Format markers
Visual and structural layout features required by specific document types (e.g. addresses, subject lines, subheadings,
