- Contrasting Ideas: 'But' connects two clauses that show an opposite or surprising outcome (e.g. "The alarm sounded, but there was no fire.").
- The Comma Signal: In compound sentences, a small comma before 'but' helps your reader pause before the twist.
- Meaning Contrast: Never use 'and' when the second fact contradicts the first (e.g. "He applied, but was unsuccessful." — not 'and').

× Not Quite Right

16 Past Tense — Doubling the Consonant (stopped, planned)

Abdul

A Look & Learn:
Reporting Safety Incidents & Vehicle Movements

B Core Syntax Architecture: The 1-1-1 Doubling Rule

1 Syllable Word + 1 Short Vowel (a, e, i, o, u) + 1 Final Consonant = DOUBLE Consonant + -ed

- Core Rule: stop → stopped, plan → planned, drop → dropped, fit → fitted, slip → slipped.

- Suffix Consistency: The same doubling rule applies when adding '-ing': stopping, planning, dropping, fitting.

WORKPLACE FORM-FILLING EXEMPLAR ANSWERS

Form 1: Subject: Request for Shift Swap on Saturday, 14 November Dear Mrs Jenkins, I am writing to request a shift swap for Saturday, 14 November because I need to attend a family wedding in Manchester. Marcus has agreed to cover my afternoon shift, so the department will be fully staffed. I will work his Sunday morning shift on 15 November in return. Thank you for considering my request. Best regards, David Taylor

Form 2: INCIDENT REPORT FORM Date: Monday, 12 October 2026 • Time: 10:30 • Location: Corridor B Staff Involved: Sarah Evans (Warehouse Operative) Description: Sarah Evans was carrying a box of stationery when she tripped over a loose computer cable. She fell onto her knees and bruised her arm, but she did not hit her head. I saw the incident and immediately helped her to a chair in reception. I notified the first aider, so ice was applied to her arm straight away. The loose cable has now been secured with heavy-duty safety tape.

Form 3: Dear Mr Clarke, Thank you for contacting customer service regarding your order #7712. Your parcel was delayed because our regional delivery van suffered a mechanical breakdown on Wednesday. We have rescheduled your consignment for priority delivery on Friday, 16 October between 09:00 and 12:00. Your parcel contains two shirts, one winter jacket and a pair of leather shoes. We apologise for the inconvenience caused. Yours sincerely, Customer Care Team

Form 4: Dear Liam, Welcome to our warehouse logistics team! We are delighted to have you join us. When you arrive on shift each morning, please sign the staff register at reception and collect your locker keys. You must always wear your personal protective equipment, which includes safety boots, a high-vis vest and protective gloves. Before starting your duties, check the daily rota board for your assigned loading bay. If you need any assistance, please ask me. Best wishes, Sophie Patel (Team Leader)

Form 5: MAINTENANCE REPAIR REQUEST To: Mr Taylor (Facilities Supervisor) • Location: Staff Canteen The commercial dishwasher broke down this morning during the breakfast clean-up. Water began leaking rapidly onto the floor, so I switched off the emergency water valve and isolated the power supply. A yellow caution cone has been placed outside the kitchen door to prevent slips and falls. Could you please let me know when an engineer can inspect the machine? We have no clean trays for lunch service. Thank you, James Wilson
