Subject: Report on disturbances in Bramby Community Park

Disturbances in Bramby Community Park
Over the past week, there have been several incidents in Bramby Community Park that need to be addressed.

Alcohol and Noise Disturbances
Despite signs on the park gates strictly forbidding the consumption of alcohol in the park, underage people have been seen drinking alcohol in the park every day this week. Often, the drinking is accompanied by loud music, which is irritating to the local residents and intimidating to children who would like to play in the playground.

Littering
Underage drinkers often leave cans and bottles lying on the grass. In addition to being incredibly unsightly and unhygienic, this could cause injury to any wildlife in the park as well as the young children who play there.

Conclusions and Suggestions
Recently, behaviour in the park has been unacceptable. The consumption of alcohol, loud music, and littering are making the park an unpleasant environment for almost everybody. It is likely that increased policing in the area would reduce underage drinking and noise pollution. A larger number of waste bins and increased waste collection in the park could reduce littering.

Is it really work if you love doing it?

Last week, I sat myself down with a cup of tea and started to work on a new painting. Like many artists, I soon found myself sucked into a sensation of utter focus. With an audiobook playing in the background, I spent hour upon hour with a paintbrush in my hand, letting the colour spill onto the canvas and turning my imagined ideas into a concrete image.

After eight uninterrupted hours of sitting alone and letting the paintbrush dance, I awoke from my creative stupor and admired my creation. It was not my best work, but it was still satisfying to see the fruits of my labour.

When I hung the new painting alongside its many brothers and sisters, I was overjoyed. Creating it did not feel like work at all; it felt like bringing a small piece of my heart and mind to life.
