Subject: Workplace incident

Dear Sir/Madam,

I would like to report an incident at my workplace that took place last month.

Although I work in an office, my boss occasionally asks me to do some heavy lifting. Recently, he ordered a large shipment of rice that was several hundreds of kilograms in weight. He asked me to carry the bags up to an office on the top floor, whilst he went off to play a game of tennis.

I have received no training on how to handle heavy goods, nor have I been offered any. After thirty minutes, I developed a pain in my back that hasn't gone away since; I haven't been able to walk properly or stand up straight either, and this was several weeks ago.

I have had to miss several days of work to visit the hospital, which my boss refused to pay for, since I am on a zero-hour contract. Am I entitled to any compensation for my loss of income, or would you advise me to quit this job?

Yours sincerely,
Bill

Bramby Council – Community Funding

Declarations of Interest

The council is seeking to use some of its budget to fund activities that will help the local community. We are happy to provide funding for the following: sport, arts, entertainment, wildlife conservation, environmental improvement, skills development, catering and community fashion. We expect the funding to go to groups and not individuals. Also, we cannot fund new buildings. Our maximum award would be in the region of £20,000.

In order to access these funds we invite declarations of interest by letter. Please tell us about your group, what you hope to do, how this would help the community and how much money you would hope to receive.

Write to: Clarissa Jennings, Community Development, Town Hall, Bramby

Dear Ms. Jennings

I am writing to you today to apply for £15,000 to expand the community project that my team and I have been running for three and a half years.

My journey with the team began when I found out that cookery lessons would no longer be a part of the curriculum at Bramby High School. I was astonished by this, as learning how to prepare food is an important life skill. Other parents at the school shared in my concern, so we started up 'Cooking for Life', with the aim of teaching cookery skills to young people.

Since then, I have been visiting local schools and community centres in an effort to teach children the basics of cookery. We received such positive feedback and have returned to many places in order to teach more advanced skills. To achieve this, I took on a baker and a chef.

With this money, we hope to convert the kitchen in Bramby Wellbeing Centre to accomodate more ovens and fridges so that we may increase the size of our classes. We will use any additional money to purchase ingredients and other supplies for our store cupboards to make sure that we are stocked for all of the classes. The value of this will be great, since working mums and dads will be able to rely on their children to cook for themselves. We will also be able to introduce healthy and exciting meals to those who have fallen into a routine with their daily cooking habits.

I hope that you will consider our application for funding and please get in if you have any questions.

Sincerely,
Gertrude Stiles
