Ottery St Mary- small town, big character!

Ottery St Mary is a small market town in East Devon. There is no town more deserving than this one to be published in a national newspaper due to its landscape, culture and rich history.

Ottery is in a lush green valley, 10 minutes away from the sea, offering residents and visitors the amazing opportunity to experience a huge range of natural beauty. In fact, it is within the official area of Outstanding Natural Beauty, a rare thing in a country with a rapidly sprawling urban landscape. In addition, the world-famous Dartmoor is only a stone's throw away!

Furthermore, the history of Ottery is rich and long. It is the only town in the world to partake in the tradition of Tar Barrels (google this for some amazing videos of the event) as well as the ever popular Pixie Day in summer. Young families, elderly people, professionals and tourists come from far and wide to enjoy these events and they are not to be missed.

Finally, Ottery holds a fascinating culture, home to Coleridge the renowned Romantic poet who was greatly inspired by the beautiful landscapes and culture of Ottery. Why not follow in his footsteps and give it a visit?

Dear Sir/Madam,

I recently nominated my beloved town for an article supporting Visit Britain. However, it drew my attention to multiple areas within the town that require council attention and appear to not have been dealt with yet.

Issues I have noticed within the town include litter dropping in public parks, increased potholes after poor weather, broken glass on streets near the school and severe underfunding in the local libraries.

While these are all important issues, to me at least, the most pressing is the potholes. They create unsafe driving conditions, especially as the weather gets darker and colder, and will only get worse if left unrepaired. Do you want to be responsible for a car accident this year?

I propose immediate and intensive repairs to be made by the council, with a start date sometime next week to prevent this urgent issue from getting any worse and putting lives at risk.

Additionally, the other issues mentioned need immediate attention too; the broken glass near the school poses a safety risk to children, the litter in the park is visually horrific and the lack of funding for the library severely limits the amount of people visiting the town. This further is of detriment to the community atmosphere we have as it used to be a social gathering place.

As there are multiple issues, I propose a council meeting very soon to properly discuss how to move forward and respond to these issues effectively with the hope of making our town safer and more accessible for everyone.

Yours faithfully,

John Smith
